

EAT.

MODERN SLAVERY STATEMENT

INTRODUCTION

This statement outlines EAT.'s approach to tackling slavery and human trafficking where it can, following the introduction of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 (the 'Act').

OUR COMMITMENT

We fully support the aims and objectives of the Act and are continually committed to combating slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains or any part of our business.

ABOUT US

EAT. is a food-to-go retailer selling a variety of high quality food and drink to UK consumers. We have been established for 20 years and now run over 110 shops in London and the rest of the UK. EAT. is based in the UK with its head office at 140 Aldersgate Street, London EC1A 4HY.

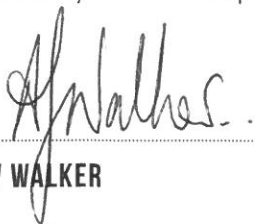

OUR SUPPLY CHAIN

EAT. is committed to respecting, protecting and championing the human rights of all those who come into contact with our operations. This includes employees, stock and non-stock supply chain workers, customers and local communities. We support transparency and honesty; to find and resolve problems, and to work with others to protect the rights of workers, particularly those who are most vulnerable to these abuses.

DUE DILIGENCE

EAT. aims to buy from suppliers which can demonstrate an awareness of, and comply with, the appropriate social and ethical standards. Following the introduction of the Act, all our suppliers have been asked to sign and return an amendment to their terms & conditions positively confirming that slavery and human trafficking are not taking place within their business and throughout their supply chain.

This statement has been published in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act (2015). It sets out the steps taken by EAT. Ltd to prevent modern slavery in our business operations and supply chains.

ANDREW WALKER
CEO